

Location

Germany, Poland, Austria, Turkey, United Kingdom, Israel, Finland, Switzerland

Users

Experts and participants

Maintained by

Hannah Hurtzig with changing collaborators

Duration

2005 - ongoing

Category

pedagogical, politics, economy

Nr. and Title

U 091

Mobile Academy: blackmarket for Useful Knowledge and Non- Knowledge

Initiator(s)

Hannah Hurtzig

Description

The project consists of an audio recording archive, which can be displayed in public venues. For every activation of the project, the initiator arranges between 12 to 100 individual tables that are occupied by experts (scientists, artists, philosophers, craftsmen, etc) who are invited to offer a 30 minute one-to-one session to users. Users are able to book an expert and to acquire her or his knowledge. Each conversation is made available in an online archive.

Goals

To organise a community college in which learning and unlearning, knowledge and non-knowledge, and strategies of living and surviving will change ownership in a non-institutional way. To transfer knowledge as a communicative and performative act that becomes a collectively, whispered story of knowledge.

Beneficial outcomes

Transfer of knowledge between participants and experts. Talks are made available online and in an Encyclopedia.

Location

Germany, Poland, Austria, Turkey, United Kingdom, Israel, Finland, Switzerland

Users

Experts and participants

Maintained by

Hannah Hurtzig with changing collaborators

Duration

2005 - ongoing